01 / THE STARTING POINT

Start with the place. Imagine what follows.

This study uses the original photograph from the 40 m² pilot. The area comes from the historical dossier; it has not been calculated from image pixels.

Original photograph - the same space and viewpoint.

01 Reveal the proportions

Keep the two windows, radiators and ceiling beams as reference points, then explore furniture and decoration proportionate to the room.

02 Connect the functions

Let the kitchen and living area share a coherent family of materials. Arrange the furniture so the uses and circulation remain clear.

03 Bring the room to life

Wall art, books, ceramics, textiles and plants complement the furniture. Each detail extends the palette without overwhelming the composition.

A studio decorative example, not a completed renovation. Measurements, furniture purchases and construction work require their own checks.

PROPOSAL 01

Olive & light.

Olive adds depth, ivory brings softness and oak connects the spaces. A few terracotta accents give the composition relief.

THE PALETTE DIRECTION

Olive	Ivory	Oak	Terracotta

A lived-in room, thoughtfully edited.

The pale sofa and olive armchair sit around a mineral coffee table. A rug, side curtains and warm lamps soften the room. Books, artwork and ceramics add a considered sense of life.

An indicative palette to compare with physical samples in the actual light of your room.

Blue & character.

Petrol blue meets ivory and walnut. An ochre accent and the textures of the decor bring a bright note to this more expressive composition.

THE PALETTE DIRECTION

Petrol blue	Ivory	Walnut	Ochre

Character through subtle colour.

The blue sofa and ochre accents set the tone. A pale armchair and stone balance the volumes; objects, books and artwork echo the same shades to connect the composition.

An indicative palette to compare with physical samples in the actual light of your room.

YOUR NEXT CHAPTER

Bring your project to life.

Keep the vision that speaks to you and use it to explain your intention. The images help you compare options and prepare conversations.

01

Choose a guiding thread

Identify the colours, textures and principal shapes you would like to retain. Compare both visions with your original photograph.

02

Explore suitable companies

Search online for renovation companies in your area. Explore their specialities, completed work and recent, detailed customer reviews.

03

Share your vision

Share the visuals you choose, then ask for a quotation suited to your space. Confirm dimensions, materials and required work on site.
